

Mesh Straining Machine is a supporting tool for the production of wire-mesh filter. This machine uses a hydraulic system, and is designed to facilitate the processes of wire-mesh stretching, welding and cutting.

This machine is processed by a manufacturing system which is simple yet is able to achieve a maximum function in accordance with the product quality. This has been admitted by the user.

Mesh Straining Machine